Sailing Officer Matt Bailey
UCD Sailing Team representative Alana McSween (absent)

Officers and members present constituted a quorum.

Commodore Dave Potter conducted a brief meeting, the main business of which was the election of a new slate of officers.

Communications Officer Tom Heavey solicited features for the newsletter, to be out by the end of December.

Vice-Commodore Jim Eilering reported that the club has 100 members.

Treasurer Tom Locker stated that the club's finances are in good shape and the hoist repair project is the biggest current expense.

Port Captain Brian Schyberg gave a summary of the work being done on the hoist project. He gave credit to Bruce Montgomery as the team member who did the bulk of the engineering of the foundation and design work. He also mentioned the UC Davis Sailing Team who helped clear the space around the hoist. Steve Jacobs, our representative at PICYA, recommended continued participation in that organization. Its activities are mainly philanthropic.

Richard Leijonflycht, racing coordinator for the High School team, was pleased with the active sailing program. Dave Potter gave credit to Richard and to Matt Bailey for well-run sailing events.

Commodore Potter presented to Dave Candey the "Versatile Volunteer" award, a raised hand carved from the Commodore's lee board of a Naples Sabot.

The new officers are:

Commodore Rich Glovin
Vice-Commodore Tom Heavey
Port Captain Dave Candey
Secretary Janyne Reckner
Treasurer Laura Schnur
Communications Officer Cynthia Shallit/Mark Sabin
Sailing Officer Steve Willet

Rich Glovin thanked the out-going board members. Dave Candey distributed Frog Awards to those of us who were willing to describe our experiences with capsized boats. Numbers were drawn for the door prizes. The meeting was adjourned and everyone dove into the buffet offerings.
